The Pauli Murray Center for History and Social Justice engages diverse communities to lift up the life and legacy of activist, legal scholar, feminist, poet, Episcopal priest, and LGBTQ+ community member, the Rev. Dr. Pauli Murray, in order to address enduring inequities and injustice in our nation.

The Pauli Murray Center is a National Historic Landmark site anchored by Pauli Murray's childhood home in Durham, North Carolina. The home stands on its original site, a one-acre plot, in the historically Black working class West End neighborhood. We are becoming a fully operational, visitor-ready site. Over the next few years, we will completely rehabilitate and create an accessible historic home and education center; build on our robust calendar of workshops, both on the ground and virtually; host community dialogues and invitations to action; and lead creative arts programming.

Internship Overview

PMC is seeking 3 interns for our Firebrands Internship. The Education Firebrands will work closely with the Director of Education and Outreach (DEO) to implement projects and support programs that are key to the growth and success of the Pauli Murray Center for History and Social Justice (PMCHSJ). The Firebrands will also work on personal development projects that will be created with guidance from the DEO.

The ideal Firebrands have experience with education, social and digital media, and graphic design, as well as strong written communication skills. They are creative, thorough, and detail-oriented. They are current undergraduate students, or recent college graduates, and have demonstrated interest in public history and social justice.

Time Commitment

Hybrid full-time internship, including an hour weekly meeting with the DEO, 45 minute weekly staff meeting, and other meetings as needed. Four days a week working for the PMCHSJ and one day spent working on personal projects.

Primary Responsibilities

- Complete orientation materials, including a selection of reading materials by and about the Rev. Dr. Pauli Murray
- Initiate collaborative, engaging, and creative social media campaigns that focus on public history and social justice
- Creation and implementation of Firebrand Summer Social Justice Programming
- Promote PMCHSJ and affiliates' events
- Create and implement a personal development plan
- Attend weekly staff meetings
- Communicate and work with fellow team members
- Other duties as assigned
